We Need a Conversation as a World

On this Easter Sunday, what is impressing itself on me is that we need to have a conversation as a world.

Do I know how to do such a thing? No. Do I know that a global dialogue needs to begin? Yes. Is the Internet flexible enough to begin such a thing? I'm not sure.

We need to have a discussion that ignores boundaries, citizenship, interests, “national security.” We need to roll back time and eliminate the differences that were created among us by the dark ones’ creation of languages, religions, classes, nations, and everything else that divides us.

This is a day on which a perfect one allowed himself to be crucified so that people could see how we have murdered truth, enslaved whole populations, and bound future generations to false beliefs, all to ensure the rule of the few over the many.

Now those artifacts of that rule need to be overturned, peacefully but finally.

The whole mythology, the whole fantasy, story, drama and symbology that holds the world in slavery needs to be overturned and all of us released from its grip and hypnotic trance, the same way that that perfect one overturned the tables in the temple.

This conversation as a world needs to leave no one out – not the young, not the old, not the disfranchised, not the non-conformist. It has to be had in amicableness and compassion. It has to take in every corner of the globe. It has to be held in truth and fearlessness.

It may as well be started on Easter Friday and it will be our final triumph over fear. We need to step outside our own bondage as the perfect one burst the bondage of his body. We need to begin taking leave of everything, every vestige of the old world order, every constraint currently placed upon us by it, every reminder of our former chains.

We need to forget all that reminds us of our differences and remember all that reminds us our commonness. And today is certainly the day to begin that – peacefully, globally, irreversibly.

Having a Global Conversation

No, I'm not a megalomaniac or an egomaniac, but I do believe that we need to make a leap in our communications and I believe the time is here to make it.

I'm sure everyone has experienced breaking through to being able to make a speech before the class, perhaps before the school, then maybe on the radio, etc.

Each time we break through to a new level of communication, there's a corresponding expansion of consciousness.

I'm suggesting that the time has come to have a conversation as a world.

No, I don't mean the world conversing with the world. I mean us addressing the whole world in our communications. It's a level of communication but it's also a level of consciousness.

I'm convinced that our former planetary controllers dumbed us down, divided us and conquered, and erected artificial barriers based on language, religion, nationality, class, color and many other variables. Any variable in fact could be made a barrier and many were.

It's now time, I believe, to begin the slow march back towards addressing matters without those barriers, to address each other as a world. In doing so we accomplish numerous goals. We roll back the artificial divisions imposed on us by the powers that were. We recognize our commonality and our shared interests. We promote unitive consciousness, We prepare ourselves for Ascension.

What does it look like to have a conversation as a world? I can't pretend to know that. I can only imagine it. It means, for me, to start thinking in terms of men, women and children, regardless of location or any other variable. It means to start thinking in terms of the human condition, of what all human beings want and what all human beings have. It means to dedicate ourselves to seeing that everything on the planet is fairly shared. If there is not enough to go around, then we all share the pain. If abundance flows, then we all share the gain.

Readers of this site will know that abundance is in fact around the corner. You've heard of treasure ships sunk in the sea containing fortunes in gold, platinum, currency and bonds. You've heard of rooms as big as gymnasiums filled with gold. You've heard of funds coming from St. Germain's World Trust. You may not be as familiar with gold being brought here from other planets. You've heard of projects starting up worth trillions of dollars designed to kickstart the new economy. Wrap all these reports up and more and put them in a file marked "NESARA" because they are all about NESARA. (1) So abundance is on its way. Once the cabal has been arrested and removed from the scene, I expect NESARA will begin (not like I know).

In our conversation as a world, let's stay with this one subject. What does it mean that NESARA comes in? Well, it means that our debts will be relieved, our needs will be met, and services will be established such as universal medicare and other aspects of the social-safety net. But it also means that many of us will volunteer to take the fruits of NESARA to places where people currently exist for under a dollar a day. NESARA will spread from the developed world, if I understand matters correctly, to the underdeveloped world. And we will lead that effort.

Looking at that one subject alone and having a conversation as a world, the task before us will be to work together as a community without borders, without divisions, without separative interests. Knowing this ahead of time, the work that we can accomplish now is to begin to obliterate the borders in our mind, to cease thinking as Britons, Australians and Mexicans, Americans, Chinese and Russians, and begin to think as sovereign citizens of Planet Earth.

Borders were yesterday; the world is today. National interests were yesterday; human interests are today. National security was yesterday; planetary wellbeing is today.

We must make the leap, first in our minds, next in our speaking, and finally in our actions from a world of nations, classes, and so on, to a world without borders or divisions.

What Does It Mean to Be Human?

The Adam/Eve Kadmon template

I'm glad so many people enjoyed the last article in this series (1) and are interested in beginning a global conversation. Let's take another step towards starting one. A global conversation is addressed to the human race. So perhaps I can be permitted a few words on my view of what it means to be human.

I'm not an anthropologist but I worked many years as a cultural historian. Nonetheless this is meant as a commonsensical discussion and not one that's somehow scholarly or academic.

What does it mean to be human? Believe it or not, human beings can achieve that level of evolution by different paths. David Wilcock described some of them:

“The human body shows up in the galaxy on every planet where life can form. It's a natural evolution. Some might get there by an insect; some might get there by a lizard; some might get there by mammals like we do; some might get there by cetaceans; some might get there even by vegetation, apparently.” (2)

Even though humans can be mammalian, reptilian, or even plant-based, the humans around our planet at the present time are all of the same mammalian genetic makeup as we are; in fact they're our ancestors, the races that first populated the Earth.

The basic human form is known as the Adam/Eve Kadmon template and is best represented in Leonardo's drawing (above) or the Voyager Plaque (below). That template is upright, bipedal, bilaterally symmetrical, with stereoscopic vision located on the front of the face, arms, legs, opposable thumbs, a brain with hemispheres, etc.

The form is human, but the soul divine. The soul is at a level of evolution called being human. As the saying goes, we are not humans having a spiritual experience but spirits having a human experience. We're immortal and live many lives, only some of them as humans.

The Voyager Plaque: Another view of the Adam/Eve Kadmon Template

The physical human form has certain aspects: the biological, cultural, emotional, and spiritual. The biological aspect centers around the need to eat, drink, breathe, sleep, procreate, clothe ourselves, etc. These needs are only associated with the Third Dimension. On higher dimensions, our needs are fewer and our means of satisfying them don't depend as much on work. We share this 3D level of existence with animals, but we satisfy our needs in a peculiarly human way, through the use of culture and tools.

The cultural aspect relates to the fact that we traffic in ideas. Culture = ideas. To create an idea that can be communicated, we bestow meaning on symbols, freely and arbitrarily. This tall wooden thing before me I think I will call a “tree.” (Non, non, un “arbre.”) This barking animal I will call a “dog.” (Non non, un “chien.”) With ideas, we communicate and dream, rehearse and remember. We get the idea, make believe, and pass the word along.

When I was a cultural historian, I used to say that culture was an organization of ideas, manifest in act and artifact, though consisting of neither, by means of which we think, respond and take purposive action. We live in a world of ideas, whether animals do or do not. (Some say they do.)

There is an emotional aspect to us which builds on both biology and culture. We respond emotionally to our body’s needs and urges and to our thoughts and actions. We respond emotionally to others. We even respond emotionally to our dreams and fantasies. We love and hate, desire and reject, lean towards and away from. We’re repulsed and inspired, jubilant and depressed, encouraged and discouraged. And we then we double back and have thoughts about our emotions.

SaLuSa, human being from Sirius

The spiritual aspect builds on the cultural and emotional, beginning with the power to make an object of ourselves. Taking cognizance of ourselves we term “self-consciousness.” It was a huge innovation. We can make of anything an object and end up making one of God as well.

As we expand our consciousness more and more, moving towards the event for which all life was created (enlightenment), we move ever closer to transforming God from an object into the one and only Subject. We’ve moved from self-consciousness to Self-Realization, using object-consciousness to reach consciousness without an object.

These processes are what all of us humans share. If we want to take a human perspective rather than an American or a Catholic or a Republican one, then we’ll be looking at what we are and do relative to our biological, cultural, emotional, and spiritual selves and others.

We haven’t been speaking about these before now – not commonly. Certain scholars do, but not the mass of society. We’ve been speaking about Presidential candidates, the pound sterling, and housing prices. We’ve been speaking about the Vatican, and Burma, and space shuttles. Always we take the partial view, the specific view, the named and unique perspective. Always we focus on differences.

But we’re being obliged to become aware of ourselves as a planet by the guests who are coming to dinner. If we’re talking about Pleiadians and Arcturians, how can we not think about terrestrials? We’re suddenly finding that we need to know more about ourselves, even as we attempt to know more about them. We can see that the galactics are studying us. Just get yourselves onto Ellie Miser’s distribution list. Ellie is a conscious Pleiadian starseed who studies us like an anthropologist.

They’re studying us. We’re studying them. Now we must also study us. We have to survey us, take stock of our credits and debits, surpluses and insufficiencies, gifts and weaknesses.

Asket, Billy Meier's human Timorian mentor

As I said in an earlier article, in regard to the work that needs to be done between now and the end of the year, primarily what we address is “problems.” We aim to turn unworkability into workability.

But we also need to get to know each other from a human vantage point. After years of focusing on our differences, we now need to focus on our similarities. What ties us together? We all have the same biological needs. We all live our lives by using and communicating ideas. We all have emotional reactions to things. And many of us also feel the tug of the spiritual.

So this is what it means to be human – at least on Planet Earth. Who’s coming to dinner are more humans like us, from other dimensions and places. We already know they’ll have the Adam Kadmon form. Their bodies may have some of the biological processes that ours do or maybe fewer of them. They’ll traffic in ideas, though perhaps telepathically. They’ll react to things with emotions, though less dramatically than us. And we know they worship the same God, see the purpose of life as knowing themselves and God as one, and live their lives in service to others.

So this is a framework that we can use to see what it means to be a human being, whether we are talking about us as humans or the galactics. As we begin our global conversation, we’re talking as one human being to another and what this article describes is what we share in common.

Team Earth

We know what a sense of unity and community looks like within a nation, but what does it look like for a world? It seems to me that humans like us (as opposed to humans like our galactic friends, about whom I probably cannot speak) crave identification. Look at how many of us are proud of our high schools, cities, sports teams.

So one of the things that entering into a new, wider identification as Earth dwellers seems to involve is letting go of all the smaller, older identifications, the suit of clothes we've outgrown, the sense of ourselves that no longer serves us. It seems to mean letting go of or forgetting all the memories, trophies, victories, and lesser graduations, which, all wrapped up into one, make up our sense of who we were.

Nonetheless, in creating a new identity as Team Earth, we're settling on yet another temporary identity. We'll have to abandon it too at some point. The purpose of life is not to realize ourselves as Earth dwellers, but to realize ourselves as God. Or if that offends you, then one with God. Or if even that offends you, then as one of God's children.

So expanding our identity from being a Peruvian or a South African to being a terrestrial human, as useful as that will be in 2012, remains only one step in the total evolution of our consciousness. It's a desirable one because it prepares us for what's coming next (Ascension), but it's by no means the end of the story.

We identify ourselves as Team Earth to prepare for Ascension. From now until Dec. 21, 2012, or whenever Ascension happens, we'll need to see to the wellbeing of Earth, her human population, and her animal kingdom.

Once in a reading with Archangel Michael, he discussed the work of the animal kingdom. Many animals, he said, are doing the work of transmuting the negative energy of human beings. He explained that animals are way ahead of humans. In fact humans are the last to clean up their negative energies. The animals, by contrast, are already prepared to ascend.

(We for our part will probably have to stop eating them soon. We are after all the world's top predator, its foremost slayer of animals. If we think of the human race as heroes, and various negative alien races as villains, we may wish to stop and think what most animals must think of us.)

The animals are our allies. Soon it'll be our job to join them in transmuting the negative energies we're mainly responsible for. Gaia herself will continue to rumble away under the watchful eye of our space family, ridding herself of much of our negativity. But you heard Gaia herself say on An Hour with an Angel yesterday (1) there won't be any devastating events we need to fear. She'll continue releasing negativity, but even she looks after us.

As part of the team that will restore the Earth, we must come together. Our first priority needs to be building the sense of teamwork that will attract all colors, religions, and paths to the work of terraforming and reviving the suffering around the globe. Anyone who's participated in even high-school sports or student-council work knows that team-building itself takes work.

All of us share humanness and dedication to restoring and revitalizing the Earth in preparation for Ascension. The cabal is leaving. The galactics are coming. The big push is not far away. Our consciousnesses continue to expand to help us along the way. We're positioning ourselves to carry out what we came to do. To get the job done that faces us, first we must become Team Earth.

What is Collective Compassion?

Many of us are aware of the increasing frequency of love on the planet as light energies are sent our way from other regions of space and other dimensions. As our planet is bathed in these energies, new potentialities open up for us and new knowledge is born. I'd like to talk about one of those new potentialities – collective compassion.

We're aware of some of the milestones in the growth of collective consciousness on our planet. In the late nineteenth century, sociologist Emile Durckheim crystallized the notion for us.

“The term has specifically been used by social theorists/psychoanalysts like Durkheim, Althusser, and Jung to explicate how an autonomous individual comes to identify with a larger group/structure. ... We can surmise that the phrase collective consciousness implies an internal knowing known by all, or a consciousness shared by a plurality of persons.” (1)

Later Karl Jung introduced the notion of a collective unconscious, which he described in the following manner:

“In addition to our immediate consciousness, which is of a thoroughly personal nature and which we believe to be the only empirical psyche (even if we tack on the personal unconscious as an appendix), there exists a second psychic system of a collective, universal, and impersonal nature which is identical in all individuals. This collective unconscious does not develop individually but is inherited. It consists of pre-existent forms, the archetypes, which can only become conscious secondarily and which give definite form to certain psychic contents.” (2)

Archangel Michael has recently brought forth a notion of “collective compassion” as a new potentiality and I’d like to allow him the opportunity to explain it to us. We had our first brief discussion of it in a reading in early March 2012 but I asked him to go into the subject in more detail in a reading on March 28. He said:

Archangel Michael: Collective consciousness, which is a given, is a series of belief systems and, hopefully as you evolve, truths that you come to know.

But compassion is the expression of collective love, collective understanding for the situation that you find not only each other in but as a collective. You find yourself in a situation right now for example of massive change.

And what that calls forth beyond the consciousness is the compassion, the understanding that you are in this process together and that you are not judging it, that you are understanding it, that you are supporting each other in various ways but that you are doing so not to fix it for somebody else but to support them in their journey of addressing whatever it is.

So the entire collective has need to address this wonderful possibility of ascending together but that requires the collective coming together compassionately – in compassion, in love. Not just for this group or that group or this understanding or that understanding but for the totality. (3)

This conversation had come about because I was feeling exhausted and asked him what was causing this. He said that it was due to the fact that I was connecting with collective compassion but did not know how to work with it. In this later reading, I asked him what should be done to avoid becoming exhausted.

Steve: So how should we work [with collective compassion] so that we don’t become drained?

AAM: How you work with collective compassion is very much the way you work with individual compassion only on a much larger scale obviously. And it is to not assume the burdens, the issues, the journey of the collective.

Now we have talked about this. Let me give you a very concrete example. If we were having this conversation about the collective, say, oh, a decade ago, I would say to you, dear heart, clear your own issues, your own burdens, your own debris, your own vasanas, but do not assume that you are clearing for the collective for it was not time to do that.

In the past three to four years, there has been a great deal of joint, or conjoint collective clearing. And you have seen this as you have seen issues emerge at the same time all over your planet, such as the demand for freedom or financial equality. And those issues have come to the forefront for clearing and many of the collective have been clearing together.

But when you are in collective compassion you do not go and start assuming any of the burdens. We want to bring that to a close. You may look at some of the issues or what is occurring with compassion. But do not assume it is yours to take on.

S: Don't go that far?

AAM: That is correct. (4)

I then asked him what might be done to bring the notion of collective compassion to public attention.

S: Alright. Now what are the best ways for people to come into contact with collective compassion. A planetary meditation, or a day of discussion, or a march?

AAM: Planetary meditation is wonderful. A planetary day. We have had such days you and I together.

S: When was that, Lord?

AAM: When we brought to the forefront the Declaration of Human Freedom. (5)
Such a declaration of collective compassion [might involve] a day when people can consciously enter into the energy because they decide to. It is that simple, you know. To be in their hearts and to feel the empathy, the understanding, the love, but not the assumption [of burden] because we do not advise for any of the collective to be assuming anything more. (6)

Just as we have a longing for liberation, so we also have a longing for reunification with the group, Archangel Michael tells us through Ronna Herman, which grows with evolution.

“The Soul has a natural inclination toward group-consciousness. It is the Soul which seeks reunification, not the ego personality. Advancement on the path increases Soul consciousness and group awareness.” (7)

I predict that we’ll come to see four processes as linked: (A) the expansion of individual consciousness, (B) the rise of group consciousness, (C) the increase of our desire for unification, and (D) the rise of collective compassion. Archangel Michael seems to suggest as much in these remarks again through Ronna:

“The call of reunification is beginning for many of you, whereby your refined Soul Song is reaching various members of your God Self. As you refine your vibrational patterns and your Energetic Signature reaches a certain level of harmony, your Soul Song will begin to reverberate out into and through the fourth, into the fifth and for some of you, possibly even into the sixth dimensions, and very gradually into the auric fields of some of the Soul Fragments of your Higher Self.

“Slowly, as these blessed facets of your Self become aware of you, they will begin the process of moving into alignment with you. Those whose resonance is lower than yours will fall into line below you, and those who are on the Path ahead of you will slowly move into the column of Light above you. You will also be moving laterally, as well as higher, into the refined realms as all of the fragments of your I AM Presence gradually begin the process of moving closer and closer to your central column of Divine Light.” (8)

I find support for this prediction in studies of the afterlife where we’re told that the higher one rises in consciousness, the more the attraction to the soul group grows. Here’s Frederic Myers, onetime President of the Psychical Research Society, on that development. While he doesn’t mention collective compassion directly, he does say that souls are “becoming one in experience and in mind,” which sounds close to me.

“The higher the ego climbs on the ladder of consciousness, the nearer it draws to other kindred souls. I have already told you that there may be a thousand, a hundred, or merely twenty souls all fed by one spirit. Their consciousness of comrade-souls increases on the higher levels of existence. In time they are able to enter into the other souls’ memories, perceive their experiences and be sensible of them as if they were theirs. Mind becomes communal in the last stages, for the spirit, the unifying principle, is tending all the time to produce greater harmony, and therefore greater unity. These various individuals are merging more and more, becoming one in experience and in mind, and thus attaining to undreamt-of levels of intellectual power. (9)

Thus the higher we evolve, the more we desire to join and later merge with the soul group. The rise of collective compassion is attendant upon our expansion of consciousness, which is itself occurring because of the Earth’s bombardment with increasing energies of light and love.

It’s interesting that, at the same time that Archangel Michael was addressing this matter, a group called the Star Elders was also discussing it in a channeled message from Aluna Joy. They may use slightly different language and refer to the matter from a little different standpoint, but the development they describe comes down to about the same thing, I think.

“Another large wave we see that you might experience profoundly is the June 6th [2012] Venus transit. For the last 8 years, your collective consciousness has been building a model for a unified, universal heart. This process began on the last Venus transit on June 8th, 2004. This new unified, universal heart model will be downloaded into the new operating system. The collective unified heart will be anchored. Any place where there is not love expressed, it will be shaken to its core.

“This will cover everything including your personal relationships all the way to global governmental systems. This new down load will make selfish acts nearly impossible to achieve. In other words, we will begin to think, act and live in the knowing that there is no separation and all life is connected. We will not be able to make a choice without considering the whole and future generations.

“This new heart model will take several weeks before it is fully anchored. The universe is loving and kind and will allow this heart transformation download slowly so you can readjust with each daily heart pulse. Breathe . . . surround yourself with loving, positive, like-minded souls. This will make your heart transformation a joyful experience instead of a painful one.

“But we see that this will be somewhat uncomfortable for everyone to a certain extent, as this new heart program has never been experienced in a human form before. This program has been long awaited by so many of you that already consider your actions and the future reproductions of these actions. Thank you for holding this space open for this program to down load. You are and will be successful.” (10)

In summary, as we move away from duality and polarity toward unity, the desire to join and later merge with the soul group arises and, with it, collective compassion.

As we feel collective compassion for the first time, we must learn how to work with it so that we don't end up drained.

Nevertheless, it's humanity's future to move deeper and deeper into unitive consciousness and with it ever more inclusive levels of collective compassion. Expanded consciousness, the desire to meet and merge with the soul group, the desire for ever more unified levels of existence, and collective compassion all appear linked and seem to expand and increase together.

Tell Others But Just Enough

What should we be telling others? How should we approach the task of informing friends and relatives what lies ahead? Should we force our views on others or tell them everything we know? A reader asked the question and the galactics and spiritual hierarchy provide the answer.

SaLuSa welcomes our participation in awakening others.

“There is much you can do as individuals. These are confusing times and it helps to let others know the greater plan, and more importantly how the heavenly forces are with you. Speak when the opportunity arises, as so many are in a state of utter confusion and despair. If you feel confident of the outcome, your energy will help others and have a calming effect.” (1)

“With your knowledge, you can also help others to get through the remaining months of this cycle.

“We wish everyone knew of the Golden Age that is almost upon you, one that brings Love and Light and your release from the pull of the lower vibrations, an Age that is a tribute to the love and glory of God, and the Creator.” (2)

SaLuSa’s colleague, Ker-On of Venus, also encourages us to share what we know.

“Those of the Light can be of immense service to others, who have little or no knowledge of the meaning of what is occurring upon Earth. Where the opportunity arises let it be known that the changes are for the good of everyone, and open their eyes to what has been taking place.” (3)

The Sirian Council of One suggests that we concentrate our efforts on showing how we welcome events and reminding others that they are safe.

“You are all streamed together traveling on the collective highways of light. Share your light, dear ones. Help spread the magnificence. Prepare for our event with a welcoming heart. Share that heart with others. Look into the eyes of another and let them know that they are safe. ” (4)

SaLuSa advises us not to shock or overwhelm others and only to volunteer information when asked. He reminds us that a great deal of information will be provided at a later time.

“Many awakened souls seek ways of helping others find their path, and that is welcomed at a time when some are making their first tentative search for the truth. It is recommended that you help when asked, but in replying do not shock them by trying to feed them too much at the time. Slow progress is far better that allows for information to be carefully considered, and not in any way forced upon them.

“There will a continual stream of revelations once we can communicate with you through your media, and with those early changes you can expect a whole series of programs designed to awaken you.” (5)

Be of good cheer, and when the opportunity arises share your knowledge about coming events with those who express some interest. Try not to flood someone with too much information at the time; it may otherwise cause them to ignore it all. (6)

He suggests that there is no need to force anyone and reminds us that people imbibe information from our actions as well as our words.

“Without being seen to try and impose your views upon others, both your word and actions are subconsciously noted. With the nearness of the end times, such contacts are so necessary to awaken those who still live in the lower vibrations. There is of course the greater awakening that is affecting the Human Race as a whole, but the energies being beamed to Earth take time to lift people up.” (7)

Matthew Ward also cautions us: “By all means offer to share your awareness with those who are interested, but please do not try to impose it upon those who are not—just as you would feel uncomfortable being forced opinions that conflict with your innate knowingness, so would be those who are committed to their beliefs that differ from yours.” (8)

The White-Winged Collective Consciousness of Nine advises us to share just enough so as not to stifle the individual’s self-discovery process.

“Speak your knowledge as you know it to those who are receptive. Deliver just enough so that the recipient of your knowledge may embark on a journey of his own. For whilst keeping knowledge to oneself stops flow and hinders growth....giving too much knowledge hinders growth also by not allowing discoveries and realisations to be made by the individual.

“If you are standing in alignment as a Wayshower, Lightworker or teacher of the new consciousness you will know how to introduce these new concepts to the unaware. Their own connection to the divine will do the rest.” (9)

SaLuSa reminds us not to feel disheartened if our efforts prove of no use.

“Do not be too concerned if you cannot help certain people in their understanding, as some will find the truth too overwhelming for their comprehension. At least before they leave this dimension such souls will have some knowledge of Ascension. It will find a place deep in their subconsciousness, only to be remembered when another opportunity comes along to uplift them. Your consciousness retains all experiences, to be used knowingly or not according to their value to you at the time.” (10)

The galactics remind us that they force no choices on anyone and neither should we.

“Although Ascension is an ongoing process, it is not forced upon anyone. God will not take away your freewill to choose your own pathway, and other options exist. So those who are unready for Ascension will proceed onto a different path, to continue their experiences according to their preference.

“Many will stay in this present dimension, but not in this Universe which is ascending in its totality. ... No souls are lost or destined to remain in the lowest dimensions, as evolution is a continual process.” (11)

“Since you are infinite souls and in reality there is no such thing as time because it is all in the Now, you can spend as much time as you desire at any one level. So, Dear Ones, do not be too concerned if those souls close to you appear to be content where they stand at present. Certainly if their lessons have not yet been completed, they will want to do so before they move on.” (12)

What will happen to those who choose not to ascend? SaLuSa tells us:

“Where an individual soul is not ready to receive them, arrangements are made for their placement where they can continue as they wish.

“This normally means lifting them off Earth and allowing them to continue their experiences at a similar level. Freewill operates at all times, and is essential to give you freedom of choice where your own evolution is concerned.” (13)

“No individual can be left behind as there is no such thing, as each soul determines their own path and is always progressing. You move in the direction that fits your needs and provides the required experience to continue evolving.” (14)

Matthew also turns his attention to this question and consoles us.

“Please do not feel sad if persons dear to your heart choose not to awaken in this lifetime. Respect their goodness and honesty in the knowing that it is neither your responsibility nor right to try to change their choice to slumber on. After a lifetime in spirit, they will reincarnate in a third-density world with another opportunity to see the light and evolve spiritually; and, as the independent yet inseparable souls you all are, during bodies' sleep time you will have reunions with your beloved people in places where your and their vibrations permit. (15)

But Matthew warns us that it's impossible to determine who leaves for what reason so we may as well refrain from wondering when we see someone leaving ahead of Ascension.

“There is no way for you to distinguish between light-filled individuals who leave Earth lifetimes in accordance with soul contracts, those who choose to leave rather than accept the truth about religions, and persons whose bodies' viability is snuffed out because they lack the light to survive in the vibratory level Earth entered.” (16)

We should not expect a mass exodus, Matthew informs us, because none will happen.

“Since there are varying light frequencies in individuals, there can be no mass exodus of those who are darkly-inclined at some specific point in Earth's ascension. Each such person will transition from this lifetime when Earth reaches an energy plane that exceeds that individual's frequency and physical death will come from any of the same causes that exist now. ” (17)

In summary we are encouraged to share, but only when invited and only enough to whet the appetite and not so much as to overwhelm. We are warned that many may choose to leave rather than to ascend and, among them, it may be impossible to determine who leaves for what reason. Thus we may as well refrain from attempting to surmise the reasons for departure.
